"Has the game been much played here?"
"I am told that it has. I have received complaints time after time from poor women whose husbands squandered their wages on policy. Children have made complaint that their fathers spent all their means on it, and from numerous sources come complaints."
"Why has it been let alone so long?"
"I did not propose to stop one and let another go. I thas been hard to find out all who are in it, but finally we got into all of them, and then I notified them at once."

all of them, and then I notified them at once."

Last night people who ought to know said policy was a thing of the past.

Doubtless half of the Instrictions readers are inquiring, What is policy? It is a game which for years was played in Kentucky, and alterwards in Pittsburgh, and had ajencies here who worked it quietly. Both these games ceased to do business in Wheeling, and a few months ago some enterprising operators opened up a policy shop in Wheeling. About a dozen agencies were established in silcons in different localities. Then a rival game was opened, and a little later another. It is said a fourth has been in operation a short time on the South Side. Originally the main headquarters were on Eleventh street.

As nearly as a description could be obtained, the game is played thus: Three numbers are selected, and these are written on a ticket. As low as five effects can be bet, which is the reason that poor people are peculiarly open to the temptation. There are two drawings a day, at one of which twelve numbers are drawn by chance and at the other thirteen. If the three numbers on the tlekets are among those drawn, the investor gets $10 for 5 cents and in like proportion for larger sums. There is a "saddie" arrangement by which a small prize is won if two of the numbers a "saddle" arrangement by which a small prize is won if two of the number some out. Again four numbers can be played, in which case correspondingly ncreased winnings are made by the lucky man. There are numerous intri-cacles in the system which can only be mastered by a great deal of practice, but enough has been said here to show what a seluctive game policy is. Those who have been operating it here have been credited with getting rich.

Is Nature's own true laxative. It is the most easily taken, and the most effective remedy known to cleanse the System when Billous or Costive; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to Oure Habitual Constipation, Indigestion, Piles, etc. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company.
